A Seamless Process:
Practice On and Off the Cushion
An Interview with Kamala Masters & Steve Armstrong

Kamala Masters and Steve Armstrong have been teaching mindfulness retreats together, both at IMS and worldwide, for more than ten years. They live on Maui, where they are developing a Dharma sanctuary and hermitage Ho’omālamalama (the ground for awakening). In talking with Insight Newsletter, they offer their perspective on the relationship between intensive practice and householder life.

Over the last decade, you’ve offered introductory courses for those new to the practice, as well as longer retreats for advancing students. How do you meet the needs of students in different stages of meditation experience?

Steve: Kamala and I respect and teach from a Burmese model of understanding how students progress in their Dharma practice. The distinguished Burmese meditation master Mahasi Sayadaw, a pioneer in teaching meditation to those in a lay or householder life, outlined this model about 55 years ago. Prior to that, meditation instruction was not easily available to those outside the ordained community of monks and nuns. He taught that householders can develop the essential practice of the paramis, those positive forces or skillful qualities of mind such as generosity, renunciation, effort, truthfulness, lovingkindness and balance of mind.

These are the forces which, through various Dharma practices, can become our default setting – our first response to situations – rather than emotional reactivity, resulting in less harm and suffering. In Burma, householders practice the paramis in their everyday life, raising children, on the job and among their neighbors and friends. As these qualities ripen through ordinary daily activities, the ground is prepared for the deeply liberating insight that arises through sustained vipassana retreat practice.

Kamala: So we encourage the cultivation of the paramis at home, at work and in our social and civic interactions. While one or more paramis...
INSIGHT NEWSLETTER

A twice yearly publication of the Insight Meditation Society, a tax-exempt nonprofit organization whose purpose is to foster the practice of vipassana (insight) and metta (lovingkindness) meditation, and to preserve the essential Buddhist teachings of liberation.

The goal of the practice is the awakening of wisdom and compassion through right action and cultivating mindful awareness in all aspects of life.

are practiced, other virtuous qualities are simultaneously nurtured. For example, whenever we remind ourselves to practice patience – the parami the Buddha called “the supreme virtue” – we not only create harmony in the outer conditions of our lives, but in addition support the growing inner presence of loving-kindness, equanimity and renunciation.

We also encourage students to sit a silent vipassana retreat every year, whether it’s for nine days, or a month, or longer. When we take the time to temporarily disengage from household activities and move into a semi-monastic environment, the momentum towards progressively deeper levels of freedom in the mind joins forces with the momentum gained from strengthening the paramis in our heart.

Steve: The Dharma lifestyle of householder parami practice combined with intensive meditation retreats is a middle path between a full monastic way of life, and a full householder life without any spiritual practice. It is a form that seems to suit Western lay people. We have noticed significant maturation in our students who sit annual retreats, not only in the depth of their liberating insight, but also in their skillful application of Dharma understanding in daily life.

Kamala, can you say a little about the impact of your practice in Burma?

Kamala: Over the last two years, I’ve traveled to Burma three times – twice to undertake some months of intensive practice with my teacher and meditation master, Sayadaw U Pandita. The third trip involved sutta and Pali study at Sitagu Monastery.

For a long time prior to that, as I reflected on and practiced the paramis, the quality of renunciation resonated deeply in my heart. As I gave this more energy and attention, the wish to ordain arose – to shave my head, don the nun’s robes and utterly simplify my life. I was interested to see if outer renunciation would help the inner renunciation of abandoning greed, hatred and delusion.

So, I traveled to Burma in 2001 and ordained for two months with Sayadaw U Pandita. I did this again early this year. These two times have been amongst the happiest of my life; the simplification of my activities together with his monastery’s clearly defined practice regimen allowed the constrictions of heart and mind to easily let go.

While in Burma I realized how supportive and strengthening it is for me, as one who guides others, to have my own guide. Of course, the bottom line is that the Dharma is our truest guide. There is, however, immense value in turning to someone much wiser who can, with fierce compassion, tell me where to refine the practice; a teacher who can direct and help me reach new horizons without embellishment or coddling.

Two important things Sayadaw U Pandita said to me were, “You must be willing to be admonished,” and "You must be willing to invest everything you have in the practice."

Is it possible to undertake intensive mindfulness practice while in a household situation, fulfilling parent, partner and financial responsibilities?

Kamala: Being a mother and respecting family needs are primal forces within me. Nevertheless, while raising my children I also honored a deep need to take time out now and then for intensive retreat. Sometimes, I had to plan for this up to three years in advance. I didn’t shirk that inner responsibility. So, yes, with careful preparation it is possible to fulfill both worldly obligations and intensive practice needs.

Recently, on the way to Burma, I visited India, and had the opportunity to talk with Dipa, the daughter of an extraordinary and wonderful Indian woman, Dipa Ma, whose teachings and practice have contributed greatly to my own development. I asked Dipa what was the most awesome thing that she remembered about her mother. She told me that when she was a child she and her mother were at the Mahasi meditation center in Burma. Her mother’s teacher, Munindrajit, instructed her mother to practice for three days, while Dipa was being cared for by friends there. This was not a weekend retreat of sitting and walking, with breaks in between; it meant Dipa Ma sat down for three days solid, without moving. Dipa said “She didn’t even get up to go to the bathroom or to eat!”

This story inspires me, because it validates my own efforts to be both a devoted parent and a devoted meditation student – though I’m not sure I’ll ever sit for three days without moving!

Another simple yet profound practice that helps create a seamless process between householder life and retreat life is known as ‘Mindfulness of the Four Postures’ – sitting, walking, lying down and standing. Munindrajit, my other teacher, who passed away in October last year, often reminded me to practice a general awareness of the entire body as it sits, walks, bends or turns throughout everyday activities. I have found this technique brings about a significant continuity of mindfulness.

Steve, you were a monk in Burma for many years. How did this prepare you for developing a new sanctuary on Maui?

Steve: I spent five years in robes, doing intensive practices with Sayadaw U Pandita in Yangon. This was while Kamala was raising her family. Now, while she is undertaking intensive practice, I find myself much more involved in household activities. Our roles have reversed. We are in the process of building a Dharma sanctuary on Maui, which requires a lot of raising money, managing finances, and communicating with supporters, neighbors, contractors and the local government. The practices I did in Asia provide essential tools for skillful interaction in these often challenging situations. My household work is the test of my Dharma practice.

We have undertaken subsidy of the book’s translation and publication. In January, Kamala asked Sayadaw U Pandita what he thought about making it available in the West. He responded, in English, “The sooner, the better.” Not only will it provide a valuable resource for Dharma students and teachers alike, it will also establish a baseline in the West for reviewing our own practice and gauging its authenticity.

How relevant is the Buddhist understanding of mind today?

Steve: In our view, its relevance is just beginning to be appreciated, at least here in the West. Last September, Kamala and I attended the Mind and Life Conference with the Dalai Lama in Cambridge, Massachusetts, where Western scientists of psychology spoke with the Dalai Lama and senior Tibetan and Theravada monks and scholars about the nature of the mind. It was a fascinating dialogue to witness – Western scientists are just starting to document, through their scientific method and machinery, what Buddhists have been experiencing for millennia, through their meditation.

Scholarship Fund Support

IMS is committed to offering scholarship assistance to those who cannot afford the entire cost of a meditation retreat. Your generous donations have provided funding for many individuals seeking to participate in our programs.

Help someone else to sit. You may designate that your donation be directed to one or more of the following specialized scholarship areas: People of Color, Youth Outreach (for those aged 18-25), The Forest Refuge or The Retreat Center.

Contributions can be sent to:

New Executive Director

Last September, the IMS Board of Directors appointed Dianne E. Horgan to the position of Executive Director. Working together with staff, teachers and board members, Dianne directs the organization’s two retreat facilities – The Retreat Center and The Forest Refuge.

A native of Massachusetts, Dianne’s background combines an education in psychology with a professional business career. She first came to IMS in 1999, when she sat the New Year’s course. “It was a powerful experience – one that left me with a strong wish to serve IMS in some capacity,” she explained. “I was able to fulfill that dream in 2002, when I started work as Director of Operations.”

Since then, The Forest Refuge has commenced its personal retreat program, the Catskills dormitory accommodation building has received a facelift, a youth outreach initiative has begun, and a strategic planning process is underway, to determine those areas of focus for the coming years. Throughout this period, Dianne’s dedicated involvement in directing and planning all the varied components of these activities has been essential.

“It is a gift to be a steward of IMS, and an honor to be part of something that has contributed to the spiritual development of so many, including myself, over the last quarter century,” she said.

Dianne replaces Edwin Kelley who, after a seven-year tenure, is currently sitting a personal retreat at The Forest Refuge.
Assistance for Young Adult & Family Retreats

Each year, IMS endeavors to cultivate the mindfulness, compassion and wisdom of the next generation through two of its courses: the Young Adult Retreat and the Family Retreat. If you have experience in working with children, are an experienced mediator, and are interested in being a group leader for this year’s Family Retreat, please call us at (978) 355-4378, or email ims@dharma.org. We are happy to offer sitting days in return for your service.

Each year, an individual or community group has donated $500 to provide a Dharma book for each Young Adult retreatant. Please contact us if you would like to find out more about becoming a 2004 benefactor for this course.

Catskills Facelift Complete

The start of the 2004 Retreat Center program heralded the completion of the long-overdue Catskills facelift. This wing of dormitory accommodations now boasts a new fire sprinkler system, freshly-painted walls and ceiling tiles, upgraded area rugs for the rooms and new carpeting for the hallways. In addition, hardwood bed frames and new mattresses (no longer the ‘foamies’ of old) have been installed.

IMS wishes to thank all those whose donations helped bring this first phase of renovations to fruition.

New Youth Retreat

This summer, an inaugural Youth Retreat will be held for those aged 18-32. Taught by Rebecca Bradshaw and Marvin Belzer, it will take place August 13-16.

“At this age, we often need to face significant life decisions,” explains Rebecca, who has been teaching meditation to young adults for the last eight years. “The practice of meditation can help us understand and appreciate ourselves; it encourages us to approach life with more love and courage. From this place of deeper awareness, we can open to important relationships and new directions with greater wisdom and ease.”

Due to some generous financial support, we are offering this course at a reduced rate – fee information is on page 12.

Payment and Donation by Credit Card

The option of paying for retreats and donating directly to IMS by credit card is now available. Registering online through our website will be possible later this year – details about this will be outlined in the next newsletter and posted on www.dharma.org. We extend our deep gratitude for the generous donation that made this possible.

2005 Schedules

The 2005 Retreat Center schedule of courses will be posted online by late September. For those with internet access, this will provide more time to plan a retreat – you won’t need to wait until the Fall issue of Insight Newsletter reaches you in November.

As soon as the rest of the 2005 Forest Refuge schedule is ready, it will be posted on www.dharma.org, and published in our next issue.
Let Your Legacy
Preserve the Dharma

A simple way to ensure that future generations benefit from the teachings is to place IMS in your will.

For information on how to do this, or to talk about additional planned giving options, please contact the IMS Development Office by calling (978) 355-4378, ext. 11 or emailing development@dharma.org.

Do You Live Near IMS?

IMS often needs assistance from the local community, for short periods of time. If you have some spare hours, live reasonably close to Barre, MA, and would value experiencing a practice community, why not come and help us – for half a day, a few days – whatever time your schedule permits. Tasks are many and varied, across our office, development, housekeeping and kitchen departments. If you are available on a regular basis, weekly or biweekly, that is especially useful.

If interested, please contact Human Resources. Email hrc@dharma.org or call (978) 355-4378 ext. 25.

Seeking Volunteer Consultants

IMS frequently needs help from people with professional skills willing to volunteer some time or resources. If you have expertise in one of the areas below, please contact Deborah Crown, Human Resources Director, (978) 355-4378 ext. 31 or personnel@dharma.org.

Celebrate Sitting

This year celebrates two important milestones. The first of these marks the 60th birthday of IMS founding and guiding teacher Joseph Goldstein (on May 20); the second honors the 30th anniversary of Joseph’s teaching Buddhist meditation in the West. Together with Sharon Salzberg and Jack Kornfield, he commenced offering the Dharma at Naropa Institute in Colorado in 1974. Two years later, courses at IMS began.

In recognition of these landmark events, IMS invites you to join us in celebrating meditation. For a period of 30 days, commencing May 20, your sitting group or sangha may like to dedicate some meditation practice time as a fundraiser to jointly benefit both your local Dharma activities and IMS. Any proceeds IMS receives will fund our Youth Outreach Scholarship.

Joseph has expressed a heartfelt wish for IMS to develop a lasting program to support youth in practice. We aspire to make IMS courses financially accessible for all those aged 25 or under – it is our intention to ensure the continuity of the teachings for future generations.

Would your group like to participate? Here’s what you can do:

• Determine when you would like to offer some meditation time for this program.

• Give these details to our Celebrate Sitting Coordinator, Chas DiCapua, who will provide you with further information and tips on how to make this a great success. He will also send you the necessary pledge forms. You can reach him by emailing ChasD@dharma.org, or by calling (978) 355-4378 ext. 65.

• Ask family members, neighbors, co-workers and friends to support you. They can sponsor you on an hourly basis, or for the entire designated period. (You may also wish to sponsor yourself.)

• If you want to be part of this, but don’t have a local sitting group or sangha, don’t worry! Please contact Chas; your involvement is appreciated.

• Enjoy your practice, knowing that your efforts will further the legacy of the Dharma in the West.

In keeping with this tradition, we welcome your donation to cover the costs of IMS meals – you have the choice of funding an individual meal or group of meals, at both our programs, or just at one, as outlined below:

If you, or your group of friends and fellow practitioners would like to offer Meal Dana, we will acknowledge your gift – if you wish – by inscribing your name(s) on the menu board for a particular day or meal. The date chosen for this often celebrates a birthday, honors someone who has died, or commemorates a significant life transition. If you do not specify a date, we can advise you in advance when your donation will be used, allowing you to take joy in knowing when you are encouraging the practice and service of the meditators, teachers and staff.

To make a meal donation (which is tax-deductible), or to receive additional information, please contact the IMS Kitchen Manager, 1230 Pleasant St., Barre, MA 01005. Call (978) 355-4378, ext. 14 or email mealdana@dharma.org.
In Memoriam

Anagarika Munindra
(1914-2003)

Anagarika Munindra passed away October 14 last year. Affectionately known as ‘Munindraji,’ he was one of the significant teachers of IMS founders Sharon Salzberg and Joseph Goldstein, playing a pivotal role in the transmission of Buddhism from East to West.

Born in Bangladesh, he was appointed, in the 1950s, superintendent of the Mahabodhi Temple in Bodh Gaya, site of the Buddha’s enlightenment 2,500 years ago. He later spent nine years studying vipassana meditation practices in Burma with revered meditation master Mahasi Sayadaw, and received instruction from many other notable teachers there. He developed a vast and profound knowledge of different vipassana practice techniques, and eventually became the teacher of Dipa Ma, an Indian woman of extraordinary accomplishment who was also an inspiration for many of today’s IMS teachers.

Sharon Salzberg recalls some examples of how, under his tutelage, the Buddha’s teachings became accessible for her.

“When I went to India, at the age of 18, Munindraji was one of the first teachers I met. At one point he said to me, ‘The Buddha’s enlightenment solved the Buddha’s problem, now you solve yours.’ I found that the most inspiring statement, because it implied that I could in fact solve my own problem – the unhappiness and confusion that had brought me to India to begin with. The teachings of the Buddha say that no one else will accomplish our freedom from suffering for us, and that no one else need to, because we ourselves can actually do it.

“When I was studying with Munindra in Bodh Gaya, I was struck by his openness whenever my fellow students would approach him to say that they were interested in going off and exploring another tradition, or that they wanted to meet some other teacher. Munindra would consistently encourage them to go. When asked by surprised onlookers why he did so, he quietly stated, ‘The Dharma doesn’t suffer from comparison. We suffer from comparison, not the Dharma – we suffer from being proprietary about the truth, from feeling exclusive and competitive. The teachings are not something to hold onto, to defend, or to prove superior. The Dharma is not a belief to be defended, but a guide for transformation.

“Once, someone asked Munindra why he practiced meditation. His students gathered around, expecting to hear an exalted, lofty answer. He simply replied, ‘I practice meditation to notice the small purple flowers growing by the roadside, which I otherwise might miss.’ When we start to notice the small purple flowers, we come to not only enjoy them for ourselves, but to wish that others might also see them, for their solace and enjoyment.”

May all beings be free from suffering.

Cambridge Insight Meditation Center

CIMC is a non-residential urban center for the teaching and practice of insight meditation. CIMC’s programs are designed to provide a strong foundation in formal meditation as well as daily practice. Our schedule includes daily sittings, weekly Dharma talks, ongoing classes and practice groups, teacher interviews, and a variety of weekend workshops and meditation retreats.

An open invitation is extended to all to stop by CIMC and browse through the library or join in any of the public sittings or Wednesday evening Dharma talks. A growing number of out-of-town yogis have enrolled in our weekend retreats. Contact us for a list of bed and breakfasts in the area.

General Information

The Forest Refuge program offers experienced vipassana meditators the opportunity for sustained, long-term practice, from two-week periods to stays of a year or more. The facility’s quiet and secluded environment provides the sense of harmony most conducive to the cultivation of insight and loving-kindness. In consultation with the teachers in residence, a personalized program of meditation practice is created, designed to nurture the highest aspiration for liberation.

Retreatants can select a time to practice at The Forest Refuge based either on their own schedule, or on working with a particular teacher (see the Teacher Schedule on page 11).

Support for a personal retreat includes two individual interviews with a teacher each week and twice-weekly Dharma talks in the Meditation Hall. Tapes are also available on evenings without talks.

Program Developments

As more and more yogis experience a significant deepening of their practice in this supportive environment, word is spreading and registration momentum is building quickly. We recommend that you apply as soon as you can determine possible sitting dates, to avoid disappointment.

Two-week Personal Retreat

The option of a two-week stay is proving a popular choice for those who might not have time for a longer retreat, but who wish to benefit from this particular practice atmosphere.

Application Process

For those interested in practicing at The Forest Refuge, there is an application process. Guidelines and an application form are available from our office or can be downloaded from our website.

Fees for 2004 are on a sliding scale, as outlined below. Those of you who can pay more help make it possible for others with lesser means to attend. Fees include an honorarium for the teachers. Any additional offering you wish to make to them at the end of your stay is greatly appreciated.

A limited amount of scholarship support is available to assist those accepted into the program that are in financial need. While we will do our best to help your practice, we cannot guarantee that every scholarship application will result in an award.

Work Retreats

Work retreatants form an integral part of the successful functioning of The Forest Refuge. To apply for a Work Retreat, please complete and mail a Forest Refuge Work Retreat Application Form, together with The Forest Refuge Application Form – both can be downloaded from our website. A one-month commitment is ideal, and a non-refundable processing fee of $25 should be included. For more information, read the Work Retreat section on page 15.

Starting July 21, Ven. Ariya Nyani – a Swiss nun from the Mahasi tradition – will teach through late September at The Forest Refuge, together with Myoshin Kelley. Ariya Nyani and Myoshin first met over a decade ago while practicing under renowned meditation master Ven. Sayadaw U Janaka’s guidance at his monastery in Yangon, Burma. Their teachings will be offered immediately following Saydaw U Janaka’s visit.

Ariya Nyani is the first nun from the Burmese Mahasi Sayadaw tradition of Theravada Buddhism to teach for an extended period at IMS. (Nuns from the Thai Forest tradition teach on a regular basis at The Retreat Center.) Originally intending to ordain for just a few months in 1992 with Saydaw U Janaka, she has remained happily in Burma as a nun for most of the last 12 years. Since 1996 she has taken care of foreign yogis practicing at Saydaw’s forest center in Hmawbi, Burma, translating for them in interviews, conducting interviews herself and providing general assistance for their retreat programs. In 1999, she was invited to teach in the West – something she has continued to offer.

“In thiscontinuity particularly helpful. “It was during my first ten-day retreat with Saydaw U Janaka in Australia in 1991 that I came to understand and realize the value of establishing an unbroken awareness for the whole day. It was only then that I really started to meditate. This constant awareness of what is happening in the present moment held the entire practice together and led me to much deeper levels of concentration and mindfulness, resulting in a more profound understanding,” she explained.

“I have also observed that this training in uninterrupted mindfulness proves to be immensely helpful when people leave the retreat environment and return to normal, worldly life.”

In a recent conversation with Myoshin, Ariya Nyani outlined what she likes to emphasize in her teaching. “For insight to arise and wisdom to develop it is important that mindfulness is constant, precise and yet relaxed. So it is helpful to cultivate a continuity of awareness throughout the day, throughout all the different body postures and activities. For a vipassana meditator, there shouldn’t be any division or discrimination between the ‘three parts’ – sitting, walking and mindfulness of daily activities – but one steady flow of mindfulness.”

About IMS

The Insight Meditation Society was founded in 1975 as a nonprofit organization to provide an environment conducive to the practice of vipassana (insight) and metta (lovingkindness) meditation, and to preserve the essential Buddhist teachings of liberation.

IMS now operates two retreat facilities – The Retreat Center and The Forest Refuge, which are set on 160 secluded wooded acres in the quiet country of central Massachusetts.

Information about The Forest Refuge can be found on pages 9-11.

The Retreat Center, which commenced a program of silent courses in 1976, offers a full yearly schedule of meditation retreats lasting in duration from a weekend to three months. Most retreats are 7-9 days long. A group of senior teachers provides regular guidance and direction to IMS as well as teaching a number of courses each year themselves. In addition, recognized insight meditation teachers from all over the world come to offer teachings.

General Retreat

Retreat Center courses are designed for both new and experienced meditators. Instruction in meditation and evening talks about the Buddha’s teachings are given daily. Individual or group interviews with the teachers take place at regular intervals. Complete silence is maintained during most retreats at all times, except during question and interview times. A typical daily schedule starts at 5 am and ends at 10 pm. The entire day is spent in silent practice comprising alternate periods of sitting and walking meditation, as well as a one-hour work period. This schedule, in combination with the silence, group support and daily instruction, provides a beneficial environment for developing and deepening meditation practice.

Meals are vegetarian, and accommodations are simple single and double rooms. Men and women do not share rooms. Camping is not available.

Evening Discourses

When a retreat is in progress, anyone is welcome to attend evening Dharma talks; meditators with vipassana experience are also welcome to attend group sittings. Some restrictions apply. Please call the Retreat Center office for a daily schedule.

Vipassana

Insight Meditation (vipassana in Pali, the language of the original Buddhist teachings) is the simple and direct practice of moment-to-moment mindfulness. Through careful and sustained observation, we experience for ourselves the ever-changing flow of the mind/body process. This awareness leads us to accept more fully the pleasure and pain, fear and joy, sadness and happiness that life inevitably brings. As insight deepens, we develop greater equanimity and peace in the face of change, and wisdom and compassion increasingly become the guiding principles of our lives.

The Buddha first taught vipassana over 2,500 years ago. The various methods of this practice have been well preserved in the Theravada tradition of Buddhism, and the retreats at IMS are all rooted in this ancient and well-mapped path to awakening.

Metta

Metta is the Pali word for friendship or lovingkindness. It is taught as a meditation that cultivates our natural capacity for an open and loving heart. With its roots in practices said to be taught by the Buddha himself, metta is traditionally offered along with meditations that enrich compassion, joy in the happiness of others and equanimity. These practices lead to the development of concentration, fearlessness, happiness and a greater ability to love.

Women’s Retreat
Each year we provide the opportunity for women to develop and deepen their practice in this most conducive of settings and community. Following the familiar rhythms of sustained and silent practice in an environment of trust and support, countless women over the years commit themselves to being at IMS during this week.

Monastic Retreat
Western nuns and monks from the Thai Forest Buddhist monastic tradition teach a vipassana retreat each year at the center. In addition to the regular schedule of sitting, walking and interviews, there are also morning and evening pujas (offering rituals) that include chanting, and the use of candles and incense. Retreatants participate in offering service to the nuns and monks and keep the eight monastic precepts, including not eating after midday.

Men’s Retreat
For over 2,500 years communities of men, both ordained and lay, have come together to practice the Buddha’s teachings. IMS is now offering a four-day vipassana course for men (complementing the long-established Women’s Retreat) as a way of continuing this tradition. It will follow the usual format of sitting and walking meditation, group interviews, and evening Dharma talks.

People of Color Retreat
This course is designed to provide an in-depth experience of insight meditation, and to foster mutual support and understanding among the growing community of people of color who find nourishment and inspiration in this practice. No previous meditation experience is required; beginners are encouraged to attend.

The deposit and sliding scale fees listed on page 12 for this retreat are suggested amounts to help cover our expenses. No-one will be turned away due to lack of funds; we will accept whatever you can afford to contribute.

Young Adult Retreat
This retreat is specifically for teens, aged 14-19. It offers beginning meditation instruction, half-hour sitting and walking periods, discussions, stories and free time. The aim is to allow young adults to develop and value their natural spirituality within a supportive environment. Extensive supervision is provided.

Family Retreat
Within an environment supportive of meditative and contemplative experience, this course cultivates the integration of meditation and mindfulness into family life. Through sitting, discussions, family meditations and talks, we explore our commitment to deepening our practice in order to compassionately serve all beings. A children’s Dharma program staffed by volunteers who coordinate age-appropriate activities is included.

Each family unit pays a minimum of an additional $35 for the children’s program. You MUST specify name, full date of birth and gender of all children on your registration.

Youth Retreat
For ages 18-32, this retreat specifically addresses the practice needs of new and experienced meditators in the challenging years of early adulthood. The format includes daily meditation instruction, group and individual interviews as well as opportunities for questions and discussion.

Retreats with Ruth Denison
The style of teaching of these retreats is unique in the IMS schedule. In addition to traditional sittings and Dharma talks, Ruth leads her students into the phenomenology of sound and movement, which then become the subjects of insight and wisdom. Individual and group-as-a-whole activities such as chanting, dance and playful celebration, done with respectful mindfulness, become vehicles for vipassana attention and awakening. This is accomplished with Ruth’s ever-present, skillful support.

Participants can help Ruth celebrate her 82nd birthday during this time.

Dana Weekend
This retreat is offered by IMS to affirm the spirit and practice of generosity. There is no fixed course fee. Participants are asked to offer whatever contribution fits their means.

Three-Month Retreat
The annual three-month course is a special time for practice. Because of its extended length and the continuity of guidance, it is a rare opportunity to deepen the powers of concentration, wisdom and compassion. The teaching is in the style of Mahasi Sayadaw, refining the skillful means of mental noting, slow movement and precise, open awareness.

Prerequisite is three retreats of a week or more in duration with a recognized vipassana teacher, or special permission. This experience, including teachers’ names, as well as dates and length of retreats must be documented on the registration form. Special cancellation fees and deadlines apply for this retreat. 3MO and Part 1: up to March 31, $80; from April 1 to May 15, $150; after May 15, $350 for 3MO, and $250 for Part 1. Part 2: up to May 15, $50; from May 16 to June 30, $150; after June 30, $250. Please note that these amounts will apply even if you wish to move from any part of the course to another.
Individual Retreat

Self-Retreat
If you have participated in a course at the Retreat Center, you can schedule an individual self-retreat between courses. The length of stay may not exceed the longest period of teacher-led retreat that you have done at the center. During this time, you are expected to meditate in silence, observe the five precepts and maintain a continuity of practice. The sliding scale fee is $48-63 per day, depending on your means. For self-retreats of up to six days immediately before or after a specific group course, you can put the dates on your registration form. For self-retreats of longer than six days, please call the office for an application form.

Work Retreats
Work retreats provide an opportunity to explore the integration of mindfulness practice with work activity. The daily schedule combines periods of formal meditation and instruction with five hours of work – in silence – in either the Kitchen or Housekeeping department. Participation is limited to experienced meditators and requires a high degree of self-reliance. The timing of work retreats usually corresponds with the schedule of teacher-led courses. Since the work can be physically demanding, a moderate level of physical fitness is required.

A separate application form needs to be completed for a work retreat. The only cost is a $25 nonrefundable processing fee. For further information and application, please contact the Human Resources Coordinator – call (978) 355-4378, ext. 23, email hrc@dharma.org, write to IMS or visit our website.

Long-Term Practice
For those who have sat the Three-Month Retreat and wish to do additional long-term meditation practice, the Retreat Center has available a limited number of scholarships in the form of a reduced daily rate. Practice guidelines are similar to those for self-retreats with an additional emphasis on self-reliance. Long-term practice requires the prior consent of two teachers. Those interested should contact the office for an application form.

Financial Information

Dana
Retreat Center fees cover only room, board and some administrative costs. In keeping with the tradition of dāna, (the Pali word for generosity) that stretches all the way back to the Buddha, teachers are not paid by IMS but offer the teachings freely. The direct service staff also offer their service freely and receive just a small stipend. At the end of each course, retreatants have the opportunity to offer a donation to the teachers, service staff and also to IMS itself.

The Buddha taught that practicing a lifestyle of generosity is a necessary precondition for attaining wisdom.

Scholarships
Our Scholarship funds assist those who are unable to afford the entire cost of a retreat. Each request is carefully assessed in terms of financial need, previous history and funds available. Due to limited resources, we cannot guarantee that every application will result in a scholarship award. Please be assured, however, that we will do our best to help you attend a retreat with us. Please submit your scholarship application at least six (6) weeks in advance of the course start date. This allows for a process to review, award and advise in a timely manner.

To apply, complete the registration form on page 17 and include the appropriate deposit amount. Check the relevant box for scholarship and an application will be sent to you.

Policy for Media Visits

As the Dharma takes root in our society, various media are expressing interest in reporting aspects of the work that we do at IMS. This presents our community with a valuable opportunity to introduce the teachings to a wider audience.

While maintaining our primary commitment to supporting practice, IMS may agree occasionally to requests from appropriate media to visit IMS for reporting. Before any such request is granted, the requesting journalists will be carefully screened to assure as best we can, their ability to report fairly on our work with minimal interference.

Notice of any media visit that occurs during a course will be given. We will advise retreatants as far in advance as is practically possible. We will respect the wishes of any yogi who prefers not to be included and endeavor to work with the journalist(s) to minimize any impact on our meditative environment and on yogis.

We appreciate your understanding of our efforts to share the Dharma in this way and welcome any comments, suggestions or questions you may have.
IMS Core Faculty

Ven. Ajahn Amaro began his training in Thailand in 1978 with Ajahn Chah. He was a senior monk at Amaravati Buddhist Monastery in England for some years, and now resides at Abhayagiri in Redwood Valley, CA, a new branch monastery in the forest meditation tradition.

Guy Armstrong has practiced insight meditation for over 20 years. His training includes practice as a Buddhist monk in Thailand with Ajahn Buddhadasa. He began teaching in 1984 and has led retreats in the US, Europe and Australia.

Steve Armstrong has practiced mindfulness since 1975, and has led vipassana and metta retreats grounded in the Buddha’s understanding of mind since 1990. A co-founding director and guiding teacher of Ho’omalamalama: a Dhamma sanctuary and hermitage on Maui, he offers the Dhamma internationally.

Ruth Denison studied in Burma in the early 1960s with the meditation master Saygyi U Ba Khin. She has been teaching since 1973 and is founder of Dhamma Dena, a desert retreat center in Joshua Tree, CA, and The Center for Buddhism in the West in Germany.

Sarah Doering has practiced vipassana meditation since 1981 and teaches at both CIMC and IMS.

Christina Feldman has been studying meditation since 1970 and teaching worldwide since 1974. She is a co-founder and a guiding teacher of Gaia House in England and is also a guiding teacher of IMS. She is the author of Woman Awake! and The Buddhist Path to Simplicity.

Joseph Goldstein is a co-founder and guiding teacher of IMS. He has been teaching vipassana and metta retreats worldwide since 1974 and in 1989 helped establish BCBS. He is the author of One Dharma, The Experience of Insight and A moment’s Presence, and co-founder and guiding teacher of IMS and the Insight Institute.

Myoshin Kelley has been practicing meditation since 1975, working with a number of teachers in various traditions. Her own teaching reflects a strong influence from Burmese masters with an emphasis on simplicity and lovingkindness. She currently teaches at The Forest Refuge.

Jack Kornfield trained as a Buddhist monk in Asia. He is a co-founder of IMS and Spirit Rock Meditation Center, and has taught meditation internationally since 1974. He is the author of a number of books, including A Path with Heart and After the Ecstasy, the Laundry.

Michael Liebenson Grady has been practicing vipassana since 1973. He is a guiding teacher at CIMC.

Narayan Liebenson Grady is a guiding teacher at CIMC where she has taught since 1985. He is the author of When Singing, Just Sing: Life As Meditation.

Kamala Masters began practicing in 1975. Under the guidance of Anagarika Munindra and Saydaw U Pandita she has been in vipassana and metta meditations. She is co-founder of the Vipassana Metta Foundation on Maui and is currently developing Ho’omalamalama: a sanctuary-hermitage for long-term practice.

Michele McDonald has practiced vipassana meditation since 1975 and has been teaching at IMS and worldwide since 1982. She has a deep interest in preserving the ancient teachings and in finding ways of expression that make them more accessible and authentic in our time.

Corrado Ponsa teaches vipassana in Italy and the US. Since 1987 he has been the guiding teacher of the Association for Mindfulness Meditation in Rome. He is also a professor of Eastern Philosophy at the University of Rome and a former psychotherapist.

Larry Rosenberg practiced Zen in Korea and Japan before coming to vipassana. He is a guiding teacher of CIMC and the author of Living in the Light of Death and Breath By Breath.

Sharon Salzberg, a co-founder of IMS and BCBS, has practiced Buddhist meditation since 1971 and has been teaching worldwide since 1974. She is a guiding teacher of IMS and author of Faith, Lovingkindness and A Heart As Wide As the World.

Rodney Smith has been teaching insight meditation since 1984. He is a former Buddhist monk and worked in hospice care for 16 years. He is the author of Lessons From the Dying and is currently the founding and guiding teacher for the Seattle Insight Meditation Society.

Steven Smith is a co-founder of Vipassana Hawaii, and is a guiding teacher of IMS. He teaches vipassana and metta retreats worldwide.

Carol Wilson has been practicing meditation since 1971. She studied with a variety of teachers, including practice as a Buddhist nun in Thailand. She has been teaching vipassana and metta retreats at IMS and around the world since 1986.

Visiting Faculty

Ven. Ariya Nyani was born in Switzerland, and ordained with Saydaw U Janaka in Burma in 1992, after many years of Buddhist practice. Based at Saydaw’s forest center of Chamayay Ytikha, she translates and assists foreign meditators, as well as teaching vipassana retreats in Australia and Europe.

Rachel Bagby, a long-time meditator, is a vocal artist, composer, environmental activist and poet. She is the author of Divine Daughters: Liberating the Power and Passion of Women’s Voices.

Marvin Belzer has practiced vipassana since 1982, studying primarily with Saydaw U Pandita since 1986. He teaches philosophy at Bowling Green University.

Rebecca Bradshaw has been practicing vipassana meditation since 1983 and teaching since 1993. She is a guiding teacher of the Dhamma Dena Meditation Center in Northampton, MA, and also works as a Spanish-speaking psychotherapist.

Grove Burnett, an environmental lawyer and co-director of the Vallecitos Mountain Refuge in NM, has practiced Buddhist meditation since the early 1980s. Over the last decade he has led retreats hosted by the Center for Contemplative Mind in Society.

Pat Coffey has practiced and studied meditation for over 20 years. He is a graduate of the three-year Community Dharma Leadership program sponsored by Spirit Rock Meditation Center. He currently leads two sitting groups in Charlottesville, VA.

Mark Coleman is currently residential staff Dharma teacher at Spirit Rock Meditation Center. Following extensive training over the last 20 years in several Buddhist traditions, he has been teaching retreats since 1997.

Patricia Genoud-Feldman has been practicing Buddhist meditation (vipassana and Dzogchen) in Asia and the West since 1984 and teaching vipassana internationally since 1997. She is co-founder of the Meditation Center Vimalakirti in Geneva, Switzerland.

Trudy Goodman has studied in Zen and vipassana traditions since 1974. She is a co-founder and guiding teacher of the Institute for Meditation and Psychotherapy. She founded Insight LA in Los Angeles, CA and leads retreats nationwide.

Bhante Gunaratana has been a Buddhist monk for over 50 years, and is the founder of Bhavana Society in rural West Virginia. He is the author of a number of books, including Mindfulness in Plain English.

Ed Houben is a long-term vipassana meditation practitioner and friend of IMS. He has served on the IMS board and has assisted with the Family and Young Adult retreats for the past 20 years.

Heather Martin has been practicing vipassana meditation since 1981 with many teachers, both Asian and Western — initially S.N. Goenka. She is currently a teacher-in-training with Jack Kornfield, and lives in B.C., Canada.

Catherine McGee has practiced insight meditation under the guidance of a number of senior Dharma teachers in Asia and the West. She has been teaching since 1997 both at Gaia House and internationally.

Franz Moebkl, a vipassana practitioner since 1985, teaches Qigong in the US and Europe. He has studied and practiced Qigong for over 20 years.

Phillip Moffitt began studying vipassana meditation in 1983, and now teaches retreats throughout the country. He writes the Dharma Wisdom column for Yoga Journal, is the co-author of The Power to Heal and the founder of the Life Balance Institute.

Susan O’Brien has been practicing vipassana meditation since 1980 and has studied with a variety of Asian and western teachers. She began teaching in 1996 and coordinates the Insight Meditation correspondence course.

Yonai Postelnik has practiced and studied insight meditation in Asia and the West and has been teaching since 1992. He lives in Devon, England and is a member of the Gaia House Teacher Council.

Sharada Rogell has been teaching worldwide since 1985 in the Theravada tradition where she brings a strong emphasis to awakening heartfulness. She is on the Teacher Council at Spirit Rock Meditation Center in CA.

Marcia Rose has practiced Buddhist meditation since 1970, and was IMS resident teacher 1991-1995. Since then she has taught at IMS and worldwide. She is a co-founder and guiding teacher of Taos Mountain Sangha Meditation Center and The Mountain Hermitage, both in Taos, NM.

Gina Sharpe has studied and practiced Buddhism for over 30 years, across several traditions. She is a graduate of the first Spirit Rock Community Dharma Leaders Program, and a co-founder of New York Insight. She has taught meditation since 1994.

Diana Winston is the founder of the Buddhist Alliance for Social Engagement Program. She has practiced meditation since 1989, and since 1993 has taught Dharma to teenagers. She is the author of Wide Awake: A Buddhist Guide for Teens.
Retreat Center Registrations

- Are accepted by mail or in person. Incomplete registrations, including those without sufficient deposit, will be returned.
- Are processed by date received or by lottery.
- A confirmation letter is sent as soon as your registration has been processed, which can take up to four weeks.
- All retreatants are expected to participate in the entire course. Prior approval of both the teacher and the office is required for those wishing to arrive late or leave early. Once a retreat is in process, such movement is disruptive to others and places an additional burden on other retreatants with regard to work periods. Your room cannot be guaranteed if you arrive late; the full course fee will be charged regardless of length of stay.
- Please contact the office if you are chemically sensitive.
- IMS strives to provide a safe, peaceful and efficient environment for meditators. It is with regret that we find, at times, the need to turn someone away. Please know that we take great care in such situations – the discernment process is thorough and always with the intention to protect the majority of those who practice here.

Wait List

- If a course is full, you will be placed on a wait list and notified if an opening occurs. If you do not get into a course, your deposit will be refunded.

Payments

- Retreat fees and deposits are listed beside each course on the schedule (see page 12). Pricing is on a sliding scale basis – this allows you to pay according to your means. Any amount paid above the minimum is a tax-deductible donation.
- The full deposit is required even if you are applying for a scholarship, except for those applying through the Youth Outreach Program, in which case a $50 deposit is accepted.
- Please pay by check, credit card or money order in US funds, drawn on a US or Canadian bank. We cannot accept foreign cash or bank drafts.
- If possible, please pay the entire retreat cost on registering; this helps our efficiency.
- Make check or money order payable to IMS, or include credit card information below.

Cancellation

- If you need to cancel your registration, please contact us as soon as possible. Fees are: $25 if you cancel six or more weeks before a course begins; $100 four to six weeks before; and the full deposit less than four weeks before.
- The Three-Month Retreat cancellation policy is more stringent. (Please see page 14 for this information.)
- Cancellation fees apply if you are confirmed into a course off the wait list and do not accept. So please be sure to notify us immediately if you decide to cancel.
- All cancellation fees are donated to the Scholarship Fund.

Retreat Center Registration Form

PLEASE COMPLETE IN FULL AND PRINT CLEARLY. Mail to IMS, 1230 Pleasant St., Barre, MA 01005, USA. If you are registering for more than one course, photocopy this form and send a separate form for each retreat.

The Barre Center for Buddhist Studies (BCBS) offers a variety of study and research opportunities: lectures, classes, workshops, retreats and independent study programs. While rooted in the classical Buddhist tradition, the BCBS mission calls for the study of all different schools of Buddhism and discussions with other traditions. The emphasis is on the interrelationship between study and practice, and on exploring the relevance of classical teachings to contemporary life.

New York Insight

New York Insight (NYI) was founded as a nonprofit center for the practice of mindful awareness (vipassana or insight meditation). NYI provides a place where all are welcome to begin or deepen meditation practice based on the liberation teachings of the Buddha. Programs include evenings with renowned meditation teachers, ongoing classes, daylong retreats and weekend courses for the integration of meditation teachings in daily life. The events, except where noted, are suitable for beginning as well as experienced meditators. NYI welcomes the participation of all interested people.

Journey to Mindfulness:
The Autobiography of Bhante G.

By Bhante Henepola Gunaratana with Jeanne Malmgren
Wisdom Publications, 2003

Due to their revered status and rigorous meditative training, monks and nuns in the Buddhist tradition are often viewed as people who don’t necessarily struggle as intensely with difficult emotions as the rest of us. Bhante G, as he is affectionately called, dispels that perception and in doing so, reveals the intimate truths of his life with unflinching honesty, humor and warmth. The author of the highly acclaimed best seller Mindfulness in Plain English, Bhante G never loses sight of the Buddha’s teachings throughout a life marked by hardship and despair as well as great achievement and happiness.

Bhante G was born into a small village in Sri Lanka, 77 years ago, the son of an impoverished farming family. As a young boy, he displayed a mischievous and volatile temperament, which was to cause him great anguish, both at home and at school. Despite his youthful folly and humble beginnings, he possessed an unshakeable aspiration to become a well-educated monk who would not just teach the Dharma, but teach it in English! How this came to pass is the compelling story of Bhante Gunaratana’s life.

Time and again, we see that Bhante is undaunted by adversity. His tireless energy and unwavering faith reminds us that we too can embody these very same qualities. From monk’s college in Sri Lanka and ministering the Dharma to the Untouchables of India to finally building a monastery in West Virginia, the scope of this book is wide and rich in detail.

Bhante’s inspiring message is that only by looking within our own minds are we able to quell the fires of greed, anger and delusion, enabling us to find peace and tranquillity. “My own anger, contentiousness, and judgementalness were fertile ground for practice” is a bold invitation for each of us to persevere with diligence and steadfastness along the journey to mindfulness. With utmost compassion and conviction, Bhante reassures us that “no matter how strong they may be, the sources of suffering can be overcome in your life, too!”
