Program Description

Through the practice of meditation and the development of the Noble Eightfold Path we begin to experience the world as it actually is, not how we think it is or want it to be. Based on this correct understanding, we resist life less and become more harmonious or congruent with it. Because we are not in a state of resistance, we experience less agitation and stress, and more contentment and ease.

To support this unfolding, during the retreat we will practice observing the truth of conditionality: That all things, including our own bodies, thoughts and emotions, arise and pass away dependent on conditions. We will employ silent sitting, standing and walking meditation as vehicles to support the embodiment of this understanding. The daily schedule includes guided meditations, instructions and meetings with teachers.

At the end of this course, participants will be able to: 1) define mindfulness meditation; 2) utilize and strengthen their capacity of concentration; 3) practice the techniques of insight meditation in relation to thoughts, emotions, and moment to moment experience; 4) develop and strengthen their capacity to assess and advise clients as to the appropriateness of mindfulness meditation practice as a tool for healing 5) identify and mitigate mental, emotional and physical distress through open and non-judging attention, 6) decrease the level of stress that often arises in working professionally with human suffering; and 7) integrate personally and professionally, a greater balance of compassion for oneself and others.
The format will include 12.5 hours of guided meditations, talks, instruction, small group meetings, and Q and A sessions led by the teachers. There will also be periods of meditation and silent practice of the principles being taught (including during meals). This retreat is non-sectarian and does not require any adherence to Buddhism or any other adaptation of personal faith. The only requirement is participants’ willingness to learn and practice the skills taught during the course. This retreat is suitable for both beginners and experienced meditators.

Chas DiCapua, MEd, has been practicing Buddhist meditation for almost 30 years. He has trained with Burmese meditation masters, western monastics of the Thai Forest tradition and senior western vipassana teachers. He has spent over two years in silent, intensive retreat. He has served as IMS’s Resident Teacher at IMS since 2003 and is a graduate of the four-year joint Insight Meditation Society / Spirit Rock Teacher Training Program. He teaches retreats at IMS and at various centers and sanghas throughout the country.

As a way to address the wide spread suffering that is endemic in many partnered relationships, Chas explores how the dharma can be practiced in relationship, including how the masculine and feminine energies manifest in relationship, in spiritual practice, and in the world.

Jean Esther, MSW LICSW, has trained in meditation since 1975 and has been a practicing psychotherapist for over 39 years. She has trained with Burmese and western monastics as well as senior lay teachers in the Therevadan and Thai Forest tradition. Jean is a Guiding Teacher of True North Insight in Canada. She teaches at IMS in Barre, MA, at Insight Meditation of Pioneer Valley, MA, and across the US and Canada. Jean’s teachings, rooted in the primary teachings of
